

Report: Sweden, August 2016
293 INCIDIENTS

What is The Watch?

Sweden Watch is a part of The Watch group, a non profit organization which operates in Scandinavia. We collect and provide up to date information on the current situation in the three Scandinavian countries. Politically we represent a broad specter from left to right in the political sphere. We have a common goal and purpose, to expose and bring to the citizens attention the violent crimes now occurring in Scandinavia.

The Watch group consists of economists, journalists and dedicated people in the research community with fields of society in crime, economics and demographics. In common they are concerned with social development in the Scandinavian countries.

Why do we do it?

The main stream media (MSM) report on crimes, but not all, and it is difficult for citizens to have the full overall overview. The Watch emphasizes on bringing as good information as possible, and a total picture on the current affairs. This is so that you can keep your self informed, and draw your own conclusions on what is going on.

Our sources

All our collected data occurs from public sources as the Police logs, and verified incidents from known newspapers and Media channels. We only register certain types of crime in the categories you see in this report. We are certainly not able to find all incidents, so what we report is most likely to be less than what is actually happening from day to day. We will publish up to date information on our web page.

Why are we anonymous?

We prefer to be anonymous until further, due to the somewhat hostile debate climate in Sweden at the moment. We have already been threatened and accused of being neo-Nazis, neo-Fascist and racist. It is absurd to be accused for such things when the only thing The Watch does, is to re publish and systemize certain crimes from already known media and the Police. It probably says a lot about the ones sending us those e-mails.

What can you do?

We need tips, information, pictures and video of incidents. This is for documentation, and to build up an extensive database. We would be grateful if you contribute with information, content. If you like our work you can donate to us as well.
